foolish tourist believed the 8m jump was safe...

Significant articular multi-fragmentary event above my left ankle on 19/8. Surprisingly little pain. The universe, God, Angels, the heart: I was provided for magically.

Arrived in SFO on Monday morning after five day hospitalization in Coban. Meeting surgeon this afternoon.

I'll be feeling the weather in my leg for years to come. Always more to learn...

I am well, but will be nestling into months of recovery during my year off somewhere in the bay. Meager living for sure.

Still, Guatemala was simply amazing. Received a full splay of experience. So much gratitude.

Thanks for all your kind support. It's time to write!

perspective: thank goodness I went feet first!
