

Judy Crawford, 72, of Hot Springs, Arkansas, died January 20, 2017, in Little Rock. She was born in Fayetteville, on March 6, 1944, to Howard Harrison and Betty (Berry) Bishop. Judy grew up in Lowell, Arkansas where her family owned and operated grape vineyards.

She graduated from UAMS with a Bachelor of Science in Nursing. Judy worked for over 40 years in the Neonatal Unit and volunteered at Cooperative Christian Ministries and Clinic. She was an active member, deacon, and elder of First Presbyterian Church where she continued her service to others through her love of God.

Judy was preceded in death by her father; brother, Don Bishop; sister, Lisa Bishop; and sister-in-law, Angie Bishop.

Survivors include her mother, Betty Bishop of Lowell; son, Greg Crawford (Stacy) of Bryant; brother, Joe Bishop (Eva) of Lowell; sisters-in-law, Sherry Bishop of Harrison, Sue Kuehl of Vincennes, Indiana; grandchildren, Clay Crawford, Megan Brown, Katelynn Norton (Matt); and numerous nieces, nephews, and cousins.