The Future of Federal Court Litigation: The United States courts are the only nationwide organization dedicated solely to rendering justice. A reliable and impartial system of justice is a cornerstone of democracy and critical to its continued survival and expansion around the world. The U.S. Courts are impacted by Congressional dynamics, actions of the Judicial Conference, Supreme Court decisions and other developments in the law, rule changes, business and litigation trends, and evolving standards of professionalism. This presentation will address the following:

- * Where the federal courts stand in 2015 and how they got there
- * Where the federal courts are headed: a vision of the future
- * The impact of the future on litigants, lawyers and litigation; and
- * Lessons learned by looking ahead.

An application for CLE credit has been made.
