

Hardcore Bow Hunter

You know you're a hardcore bowhunter if:

You can field dress a deer faster than you can change a baby.

After about a month of bow season the lady next door asks your wife if she is separated.

You have your kids put a 3-d target in the back of your 78 ford, and drive really slow. This allows you to practice on moving shots.

You read the word does in a sentence, and you automatically think of female whitetail deer.

You've called in sick to work with a fever of 102, then gone hunting.

You make employment decisions based on whether you can get vacation time in the fall.

You use all your vacation days in November.

You've ever felt a pile of droppings to see how warm they are.

You ever picked your teeth with a broadhead.
