

China and the United States reach an agreement in substance regarding a FATCA Agreement to be concluded

(June 27, 2014)

China and the United States have reached an agreement in substance regarding an IGA to be concluded regarding FATCA. The agreement will be a so-called Model 1 Agreement. Although an agreement in substance has been reached, no agreement has been signed yet.

It also became known that the United States and Guyana reached an agreement in substance regarding an IGA to be concluded regarding FATCA. This agreement will also be a so-called Model 1 Agreement. And again an agreement in substance was reached, but no agreement has been signed yet.

For more information on FATCA see our section FATCA.