these closings would cut down the number of accidents along the two boulevards.

Mr. Hart was on hand at the meeting to back up protests made in a letter to City Council and at a meeting with City Manager, Rene LeBlanc. In his letter, Mr. Hart stated that a major part of his business was in the servicing of tractor trailors from several large trucking concerns and that it was a physical impossibility for these trucks to enter his place of business when coming from the west without going miles out of the way. He also stated that the car transporters delivering new cars to the premises also found it impossible to deliver these cars. Until the recent closing there had been four specifical in the general area which includes H. J. O'Connell Ltd., Hart Motors Ltd., Bertrand Lumber Co., and Construction Equipment. Two of these openings were closed leaving openings opposite C.E. C. and H. J. O'Connell Ltd. After lengthy discussion it was decided by council to make an on the spot appraisal of the situation on the following morning. As a result of this meeting, Council has called a meeting of representatives from all business concerns in the district with the Police and Fire Commission to the Police and Fire Commission to decide on two openings agreeable to all concerned.

Campaign Hits Half-way Mark

The overall results to date for the annual YMCA maintenance campaign on the island of Montreal are good according to Dave Loudoun, chairman of the Lachine-Dorval "At the and of the first week of the campaign it was apparent that not the whole, excellent progress had been made tunoglosur browser, locally we haven't kept up with the other divisions. In fact we have the dubious honour of being last."

Mr. Loudoun conceded that contrary to his early forecast the Lachine-Dorval division had experienced a slow start, which could be attributed to a number of factors.

"Reportshave been slow in coming in from some zones and in a number of instances our canvassers were just not able to get out during the first few days of the campaign,"

Mr. Loudoun explained, "This could be reconstituted to the campaign,"

Contributions that have been made during the first week of the campaign compare favorably with those of previous years. Actual sub-

It may, for these men are renowned for their strength of character. And the YMCA is concerned with developing character. All of these projects aim at specific educational and social values. They include 10 city branches, a complete university and four schools.

SEMINAR-PRESS RECEPTION FOR DORVAL: A seminar reception will be held at the Dorval City Hall, Nov.29. Marking a departure from the usual manner of communication between Council and Associations who often meet only when there is something to ask for, or a matter to protest, the reception is an initial step in the promotion of good public relations among City Council, Advisory Committees, City Departments, Community Organizations and Publicity Media. To the seminar have been invited presidents of registered associations, heads of city departments, school board chairmen, city committee chairmen, and representatives of press, T.V., and radio.

The seminar form of the reception has been planned to give practical guidance to the various community associations in their publicity. A panel representing the weekly and metropolitan newspapers, radio and T.V. will give out expert advice on public relations awareness, proper publicity channels and procedures. Those attending will be privileged to hear Mr. John Freeman of the Lakeshore News, Mr. Alan Randal of the Gazette, Mr. Gord Sinclair of CFOX and Mr. Bert Cannings of CFCP. Panel Chairman will be Mr. Don Carlisleof Public and Industrial Relations Limited, Chairman of the City of Dorval Public Relations Committee.

Alderman W. Milson terms the seminar "an active beginning" of a broad programme of good public relations within and beyond Dorval, The reception has already attracted attention outside of the city; Pointe Clair chas asked to send a representative to evaluate the seminar idea for local public relations. Within Dorval, Associations will receive acknowledgement, and be encouraged to strengthen liason with the city through registration. All of which seems a add up to a worthwhile P.R. project!

AMBASSADOR: Mr. Roger Bastien, Dorval's Director of Parks and Recreation paid a two day visit to Seven Islands, Quebec, last week. He had been invited to make a survey of the Seven Island's Recreation facilities and organization, and to make recommendations for a reorganization of the City's Recreation efforts. The invitation should be regarded as a tribute to Dorval's Interest in, and enthusiasm for Recreation, and the development which has occured in the city along these lines.

The City of Seven Islands with a population of 22,000 (as compared to Dorval's 18,000) has impressive facilities, a large community centre, an indoor swimming pool, and an arena nearing completion. However there is only one large equipped park, (Dorval has eleven), a lack of playing fields, and a noticeable lag in the use of the facilities. For example, 14,000 people used the indoor swimming pool this summer, an average of 1750 a week. In comparison, 200,000 swimmers used Dorval's 3 outside pools in the same period. Early in 1960 when only Walters Park Pool was in operation as many as 2400 people a day took advantage of the pool.

Mr. Bastien noted that Seven Islands, which has had a very rapid growth and a more transient population is now settling down and has reached a point where recreation must be planned and co-ordinated through city administration. He suggested a City Department of Parks and Recreation with an advisory Board which has produced excellent results in Dorval, A number of practical outlines dealing with budgeting, personnel, and co-ordination of community associations with the city effort were contained in his report.

Some things which we take for granted here... trees and grass... present major problems in Seven Islands because of the terrain, What we must not take for granted here in Dorval Mr. Bastien remarked is the strong community aid and organized voluntary effort which puts spirit into our recreation programme.... a commodity difficult to useess.

The "Fall Ball" sponsored by the Dorval Youth Club which took place at 5t-Louis-Marle School last week was a huge success. Over two hundred teems came out and enjoyed themselves.

This is the first activity the Club has organized and was pleased to see that it was so well accepted. The future holds many interesting activities for the teems in this Community. Sports programmes will swing into action in the near future along with Educational as well as Social activities. The Planning Committee hopes all teens will come out and support the Club in all its programmes and they feel certain an enjoyable time will be had by all.

A word of thanks, to Mr. 6 Mrs. Andy Mailloux, Mr. 6 Mrs. Rollie Charland who so kindly acted as chaperons at the "Fall Ball".
