Kathryn DANIELS sent me this poem from the July-August 1985 Ozark Happenings Newsletter, published by the Texas County, Mo. Gen. and Hist. Soc. After seven years as editor of "Footprints," it really struck a responsive chord.

The typographical error is a slippery thing and sly.
You can hunt till you are dizzy, but it somehow will get by.

'Til the forms are off the presses, it is strange how still it keeps.
It shrinks down in the corner, and it never stirs nor peeps.

The typographical error is too small for human eyes,
'Til the ink is on the paper, when it grows to mountain size.

The remainder of the issue may be clean as clean can be,
But the typographical error is the only thing you see!

Almost as bad as the typo is the misspelled word. And my bete noire is and always has been one particular word ending. Is it "ent" or "ant," "ence" or "ance?"

Since there are two spare pages, we are going to print a couple of reminiscences. The index is already typed so the names appearing in the two articles will not show in the index.
