Biography

She was born Friday, January 6, 1967 in Edina, Minnesota, to Sharon Meester and the late Dennis Huggett. Krystine married Brad Yocca on November 25, 1995 in Parker, Kansas. Krys was a devoted and loving wife, mother, daughter, and friend to many. She was an avid runner and never turned down an opportunity to run on the trails with her best friends (and her dogs Jake and Buck of course) which often led to participating in many marathons. When not running, you could find Krys watching a baseball game, either cheering on her two boys (often found sitting next to the dugout as the team scorekeeper) or rooting for her favorite professional team (the Detroit Tigers). Krys loved spending time at her Lakehouse where she was able to watch great sunrises, listen to the sound of the waves, enjoy fires on the beach and spend time with her family, which to her was the most important part of her life.
