

Go ask Alice

I got a call from New Jersey local (who knew?) artist Nicole Denise, who was just tapped by Elizabeth's Studios to design a line of fabrics. But what I found out about Nicole is that she is the brainiac behind The Poster Box!, a collection of 16 hand-drawn poster prints in a large glossy box that you can rotate and hang on your wall. Now — while the art feels like a throwback to the Age of Aquarius, you might be surprised to know that this style is all the rage. If you have a Gen-Y or -Z with a yen to spruce up the bedroom, dorm or new apartment, or if you're hearing the Ghosts of Woodstock-past whisper in your middle-aged ear, The Poster Box! would be just what the doc ordered! (If you're seriously hearing ghosts, though, you might try a hit of Thorazine first.) Also, check out Nicole's Web site to take a peek at her new fabric, Face the Music.
