Mavis and the other employees of the Lost and Found department of the Paradise Bus Company are used to dealing with all kinds of strange things, from abandoned tubas to missing tiaras. However, their biggest challenge yet may be controlling a runaway rumor that big-shot B.F. Crandall is coming to visit. As they try to keep up the ruse for their by-the-book manager, crazy misunderstandings and confusion ensue — and to top it all off they must figure out the mysterious reason why a nine-year-old girl has turned up at the bus station alone. Will the answers that they’re looking for turn up at the Paradise Lost and Found?

Note from the Director

Many thanks to Josh Kaspar and Elaine Berkovsky for all their work on building the stage set. Extra special thanks to our wonderful audiences who made the words and actions of the actors come to life on the stage. I hope you enjoyed seeing the play as much as we enjoyed doing it for you.
