Closed 4th of July

When the Declaration of Independence was declared, John Adams wrote this historic letter to his wife:

"I am apt to believe that this day will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires, and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward forevermore."

Deep Thoughts

By Jerry Silvestro

Hi Friends and Neighbors,

Some summer we're having, huh? If it's not 60 degrees and raining, it's 95 degrees and 80 percent humidity. No middle ground in the summer of '18. I happen to be in the minority when it comes to weather extremes because I don't mind when it's hot and humid, but most people prefer a more temperate climate. The majority of complaints I hear at The Depot about the weather is from boaters and golfers.

Now, I've never owned a boat. I much prefer you own the boat. I'll buy the beer, you can buy the gas. But I have tried to golf, lo, these many years ago.

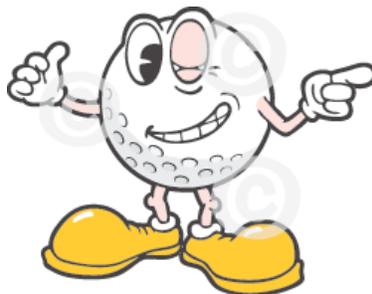

My first time out, with no lessons mind you, I shot 130 for eighteen holes. That's counting swings and misses. My second time was just over 100, as I recall. I was hooked. If I could drop 20 strokes a round, I would be a pretty good golfer in no time. As any golfer knows, it just doesn't work that way. I did manage to eventually whittle it down to about a 12 handicap which I was told was passable, but that was as good as it got. I'm the type of guy that if you're not getting better at something than what's the point? Sorta why I don't bowl. Once you roll 300, what's left? But I digress.

It was at this point I learned a new way to golf with my friends. It was called a "Scramble". For those of you not familiar with golf or what a "Scramble" is, these are the rules: Each player in the group hits a shot and then chooses the best shot to use for your score. Then, everyone hits from there and on we go. Mandatory equipment for a Scramble is to have at least one scratch golfer in your foursome. Beer is an absolute necessity. Your golf clubs are optional, except for maybe a putter. If you do choose to bring clubs and insist on the futile exercise of trying to outdo the pro in your group than this is the procedure when you or someone else hits the ball. As a group you must all transform into a group of lunatics, gyrating your bodies and screaming contradictory instructions at the ball (Get Up! Stay Down! Stay Up! Get Down!). The ball never listens to you but why should the ball be different than anyone else.

Once the ball is on the green, then the order of who putts first changes. The rule is this: If the ball is 6 inches or less from the cup, you putt. This is the way you become a functional part of the group because at the end of the round the inevitable argument will commence about whose shots we used most.

I have learned in my twilight years that this is the absolute best way to play golf without ever actually having toum, play golf!

Stay well and God Bless!

July 4th is the day to celebrate America's freedom, honor its history and remember all those who fought to keep us free.

Take the Trivia Challenge

Each month we'll give you a new trivia question. Bring or mail in your entry. The first 10 people to answer correctly will be in the drawing to win a dinner certificate worth $15.00. June's winner was Russ Werle, who knew that John Mayall was never a member of Fleetwood Mac. He has received a dinner certificate worth $15.00.

How many people signed the Declaration of Independence?

- 1) 56
- 2) 48
- 3) 52
- 4) 50

My Answer: _____

THE FIRST CONSTITUTION – THE ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION

Thomas Paine, February 14, 1776

Throwing off the British monarchy on July 4, 1776, left the United States with no central government. It had to design and install a new government – and quickly. As early as May 1776, Congress advised each of the colonies to draw up plans for state governments; by 1780, all thirteen states had adopted written constitutions. In June 1776, the Continental Congress began to work on a plan for a central government. It took five years for it to be approved, first by members of Congress and then by the states. The first attempt at a constitution for the United States was called the Articles of Confederation.

LOWER YOUR BLOOD PRESSURE BY EATING AND DRINKING!

A new study suggests that drinking alcohol apart from meals contributes to high blood pressure. Researchers at the University of Buffalo studied 2,609 men and women and found that those drinking mostly without eating showed a significant increase in hypertension compared with either lifetime abstainers or those who usually drink while eating. There was no difference in risk based on the type of alcohol consumed, or the gender of drinkers. So the next time you raise a glass, be sure to have a plate of food in front of you.
