Erin began her training in Gymnastics at the age of 5 and began dancing at 6. Erin was a level 7 gymnast when she chose dance as her true passion. Growing up in Seattle, Washington she trained at a small local competitive studio.

After High School Erin was accepted into Southern Methodist University where she received her BFA in Dance Performance. While at SMU she worked with artists such as; Jessica Lang, Shen Wei, Complexions Contemporary Ballet, Adam Hougland, and much more.

Directly out of college Erin was given the opportunity to dance with the Bruce Wood Dance Project where she stayed for three projects.

From getting her dance degree, to performing professionally, assisting a company, and directing a company she looks forward to being a new addition to XD2!
