

How do pimps maintain control from afar?

I have watched all of the documentaries on Netflix, National Geographic, etc. on sex trafficking. It is amazing how prolific it is. I find it incredibly disturbing that men frequent prostitutes knowing that they are likely sex slaves; demand drives supply.

A documentary on prostitution revealed something new to me (last year). Women were busted, by police, and investigations revealed that many of them had pimps in cities across the country. The women were sent out to cities, for a week at a time, and put on rotation to travel the country. Why did the women continue to prostitute even though they could have sought law enforcement?

Children. Many times the pimp had impregnated the prostitute and held her child hostage pending she do what she is told.

The depravity of humans still surprises me, at times, when new lows are intentionally sought after for money and control.
