

Captain is a five to six year old red longhair dachshund with a little something else mixed in. He came from a hoarding situation where there were too many dogs whose needs were not being met. Captain is a very sweet boy who gets along with other dogs and is great with children. Cats are unknown. He can sleep in a crate, but prefers to sleep with his humans. Captain uses the doggie door and does well with his house training when kept on a schedule. He walks on a leash and rides well in the car. Captain is a mellow fellow who enjoys the company of his humans and will melt into you when being held. He's happiest laying nearby his people. Captain was born with an eye condition called lens luxation and had surgery in his right eye when the lens completely detached. He gets eye drops in his eyes twice a day and needs regular veterinary monitoring of his eyes. He may need surgery on his left eye in the future. Captain is looking for a forever home that will always take care of him and provide the vet care he will need.
