

STUDENT EQUITY SPEAKER SERIES &
THE ENGLISH 105AX TEAM PRESENT

ALICIA CASS

FRIDAY, NOV. 9, 2018 | 10 AM-12 PM
LBCC LIBERAL ARTS CAMPUS | T1200

Alicia Cass
Survivor, Mentor,
Motivational Speaker

Learn how Alicia started at LBCC in English 105 and is now a Ph.D. candidate at USC. During her educational journey and career as a social worker, she has discovered the power of writing to understand herself, her family, and her community.

Copies of Alicia's book Metamorphosis: The Butterfly Experience will be available for purchase and signing directly following the talk.

Space is limited, so please RSVP to reserve your seat on Eventbrite.

This event is open to students, faculty, staff, and the community of Long Beach.
