THIS WEEK IN REVIEW!

Hi Everyone!

I missed sending out our newsletter last week so I am doubling up for this week. So much to chat with you about so let's get started!

We had an amazing time last Friday, June 23rd at our Artist Talk for Life in the Abstract. Peggy Everett, Mandy Thompson, Laura Parker, Sabre Esler and Sue Clements each spoke about their work and their process.

What a great way to end an exhibit!

There are more pictures of the event on our Facebook page. Go check it out!

Last night we had the opening reception for our new exhibit, The Big Photo Show.

This is a beautiful exhibit and you should definitely come see it!

And past winners of this exhibit can be seen at the Visitors Center on Beachview.

The gift shop has been jumping with customers this week. Artist members did you know that you can have work juried into the gift shop?
 Current gift shop artists come by and see the changes and feel free to bring new work.
 Current artists please fill out a new gift shop contract and if you are interested in placing work in the gift shop here are the forms you need.

We had two kids camps happening last week and it was awesome!

We had the middle school kids here for our comic book camp with Bob Pendarvis and they had a blast learning about how to create stories using sequential art!

And let's not forget about the Clay and Collage camp and their master creations!

I will have more pictures up on the website by next week so be on the look out for it!

Well, it finally happened.

No, nothing bad.

Something very good in fact.

We had the new doors that divide the gallery from the large classroom installed.

Beautiful!

Before it was just an opening and if we needed to close off the space we had to hang black fabric over the space.

I think the doors look much better. Don't you?

Rumor has it that there just might be a Peggy Everett workshop coming soon.

Wouldn't that be amazing? Love it!

And our own Susan Ryles is co-writing the Coastal Illustrated article Art Insights with Millie Wilcox so make sure you grab your copy when it comes out.

So many wonderful things happening here at GVA! Y'all come on down and visit.

But wait until Wednesday, July 5th before you do. We are closed for the 4th of July holiday.

Don't forget that there is still time to sign up for our remaining summer camps and while you're at it, why don't you sign up for a class yourself?

Take care, have a fabulous 4th of July celebration and I will see you next week.
