

RADICAL HOSPITALITY: A NEW LIFE FOR THESE TIMES

With Stephen Michael Tumolo

Border walls. Denying climate change. Judging others. Staying busy. Avoiding painful feelings. These are all examples of protective structures—ways that we, personally and societally, try to stay safe and in control. Yet these very ways can leave us less safe and less connected to our true life and the world around us.

There's a way of living that Heart to Heart brings to jails and prisons throughout the Delaware Valley. It is a way of being radically rooted in oneself and one's own experience and deeply committed to welcoming the Other. It can benefit all of us, especially in these times. Learn more about and experience this way of life by joining us for this workshop.

Saturday, September 14, 2019
10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Apartments at Saint Thomas
621 Mercer Street, Cherry Hill, NJ 08002

Three ways to register:

bit.ly/SeptemberWorkshop2019
susanweiss@heart2heartinc.org
(856) 406-6153

About the Facilitator

Stephen Michael Tumolo, M.A., is Secretary of the Board of Directors of Heart to Heart, an adjunct faculty member at Eastern Nazarene College, and the principal at the Center for Receptive Communication. His teachings are based on Robert Gonzales's Living Compassion and Marshall Rosenberg's Nonviolent Communication.

This workshop is open to everyone regardless of prior experience. A contribution of $40 helps Heart to Heart deliver this transformative education. However, any amount will support this important work.