Permanent and Corrective Cosmetics Considerations, Benefits and Questions

The creation of a natural looking brow, eyelash or eyeliner enhancement, or improvement of a person's lip vermillion can be easily achieved through the process of cosmetic tattooing or micro-pigmentation. The process permanent cosmetic technicians use is a more subtle and gradual approach, versus the conventional tattoo technique. Color, Shade, and Definition are built up over two application visits to achieve the most desirable and flattering results. In this approach, color can be accurately blended to work with and enhance a person's undertones. By doing so, this not only assures the client, that he or she does have a voice as to the final results, but also enables the technician to be able to artistically blend, shade and apply various pigments as it corresponds to the different stages in the healing process. By proceeding, cautiously and slowly, the technician can make minor adjustments in color, tone, shading or actual technique used to perform the procedure.

In general a procedure is applied over 2 saturation visits, one month to six weeks apart, dependent upon procedure and the age of the client. Health indications, prescription medications, etc., can and do play a part in pigment retention, as well as how meticulous the aftercare instructions are adhered to, during the healing process. The Health and general disposition of the client are very important as to commencement of a procedure. These issues are very important and taken very seriously at "Artistic Solutions", and all precautions are taken to achieve a positive result. For more information regarding our procedures, please visit our website at: www.lanettescherr.com

I invite you to visit my web site where you will learn more about the "Art" of Permanent Makeup and my "Art" in my practice. I will share all you need to know about my exciting and fulfilling work.
