

What's new and FREE on the Web?

Greetings fellow web surfing quilters! I have a bunch of new stuff for us to check out.

First up we are going to visit a wonderful source from right here in Virginia; Pat Sloan. Patsloan.com will get you there and boy is there a lot of there there. You can sign up for her newsletter, {highly recommended} check out her quilting podcasts, watch how to videos, get Free patterns and tutorials and sew-alongs, of course there is a link to her shop, and a link to join her facebook community. Check her out on Instagram as well, she is quilterpatsloan there.

Most of you are familiar with the Virginia Quilt Museum in Harrisonburg, and Pat is currently working with them on a Sew Along with Wendy Sheppard. It began in February and will finish tomorrow but you can join in and make your own version of the "Harrisonburg Quilt". They will be doing a Virtual Show and tell of everyone's quilts in Sept through Dec. Check out either Pats web pages or the Quilt Museum website vaquiltmuseum.org

Moving on I wanted to give a shout out to Our LQS, The Quiltery they have grown quite a presence on Instagram and I urge you to give it a look. They post something new nearly everyday! They have had two Quilt Alongs so far this year and those are up on Youtube.

We are all familiar with Moda fabrics and one of moda's designers, BasicGrey which you can access at basicgrey.com has a five dollar pattern of the month each month. Not actually free but a significant savings so check that out.

Next up is All People Quilt which is the website for American Patchwork & Quilting {allpeoplequilt.com}.

I found some really sweet Quilt as you go Easter Egg coasters under free spring patterns Took a couple of hours but I was able to make a pile of them and we passed them out at the meeting.

Hope you find something here that was useful or interesting, more next month!
