

Why we are backing Chris

Peter Sykes

Social Worker

I'm backing Chris because we need MPs who know what it's like working in the NHS and how austerity is affecting the lives of ordinary people. I think electing Chris as our MP would make a real change for the better for all of us.

Malcolm Wallis

Artist and retired teacher

I'm endorsing Chris Jones because I know that he will work for social justice. A doctor who has long served the NHS I know too that he will defend its guiding principles and resist further privatisation. I believe that he will work for further investment in state education ensuring greater social mobility as a result

Andy McBride

Landscape gardener and musician

I support Dr Chris Jones as Broadland's Labour candidate for his hard work and dedicated service as a consultant psychiatrist, and his stout defence of the NHS and public services over thirty years. As a resident of Fakenham I have seen how hard Chris and his team have worked to make positive changes here. It's time for a change in Broadland and Chris has the motivation to shift priorities and make change happen.

Nikki Smedmor

Social Worker

I work with young people as a professional and a volunteer - The Conservatives and Liberal Democrats have slashed funding for services causing difficulties for families and communities. Unnecessary cuts are ruining the chances of children now and in the future.

Only Labour will stand up for ordinary people - that's why we need a different sort of MP, someone who will change things for the better - someone like Chris.

PROOF

The next election is a straight choice between a Labour government fighting for hardworking families and the NHS, or five more years of the Conservatives putting the most privileged first. Make your vote count.

"I've worked as an NHS doctor for thirty years and I want to bring those values into politics."

BECAUSE NOT ALL POLITICIANS ARE THE SAME

I am delighted to be standing as your local Labour candidate for Broadland.

I've never worked in politics - for thirty years I have been a doctor, and for me defending the NHS and our public services is the natural progression of working to protect the weak and vulnerable in our society.

Working in mental health means that every day I meet and talk to people from all backgrounds, hearing about their lives at first-hand, and helping them deal with their problems. More than anything this has taught me to understand and empathise with people and what I can see at the moment isn't right for any of us.

I've lived in the constituency since 2001 with my wife, three dogs, some chickens and a hive of bees! I attended a comprehensive school in Yorkshire before studying medicine and then law in Nottingham.

If you care about our community and our NHS, I hope you will give me your support in this crucial election.

The Labour Party stands for the many not the few, for sharing the benefits of success more widely - for policies that support the needy, not the greedy

If you choose Chris, Labour will:

- ✔ Give the NHS Time to Care, put patients before profits, and stop the creeping privatisation of the NHS.
- ✔ Increase the Minimum Wage to £8 per hour, so that people in work don't have to rely on benefits, and end the abuse of zero-hours contracts.
- ✔ Abolish the bedroom tax, and build more affordable homes in the right places, to tackle the housing crisis.
- ✔ Guarantee access to childcare from 8am – 6pm for all primary school children and increase the free childcare available to working parents from 15 to 25 hours a week.
- ✔ Freeze energy prices and reform the market as part of our plan to tackle the cost of living crisis.

Saving the NHS

Around the world private health care is more expensive and less efficient than the NHS. Privatisation means fragmentation instead of integration, competition instead of cooperation, and billions spent on the internal market instead of on patient care. Only Labour has the policies to protect the NHS I love, with increased spending funded by the Mansion Tax to provide 8,000 more doctors and 20,000 more nurses. We will prevent TTIP from selling out our NHS to multinational corporations and integrate health and social care to provide comprehensive services.

Building a Fairer Economy

The Coalition claims the economy is recovering but ordinary people are still worse off. Labour will reduce the deficit by bringing back the 50p tax rate for people earning more than £150,000, tackling tax avoidance by multinationals and by investing to get Britain back to work. We need a successful economy that benefits everybody, not just the few at the top and we will make sure that markets work for people, not people for the markets.

Labour will build a genuine green economy - investing in low-carbon technology and establishing the Green Investment Bank to support innovation, backed by our plans to increase apprenticeships and vocational skills. We will stimulate growth by freezing business rates for small and medium-sized businesses and invest in the road, rail and internet links that our communities are desperate for.

Labour For Broadland

Labour policies are needed in rural areas just as much as in towns and cities. Deteriorating public transport, unfair energy markets, exploitation of zero-hours and minimum wage contracts are issues which have hit our rural communities hardest.

Labour will:

- allow local authorities to take more control of bus services, and will fix the broken energy market so that everyone gets a fair deal, including rural off-grid consumers.
- reform the gangmaster system to enforce the minimum wage and to stop jobs being advertised abroad without UK workers getting a look in.

 - build 200,000 homes a year and penalise land-banking to provide affordable housing, along with the schools, roads, GP surgeries, community facilities and bus routes that we need to go with them.

Parity of Esteem for Mental Health

Mental health issues cause almost a quarter of all health problems in the UK but gets barely 10% of NHS funding. Nationally 2,000 beds closed in the last 3 years while I've seen patients I care for admitted to private hospitals in Darlington, Manchester, and Somerset when there were no suitable beds nearer. It would never happen in other areas of medicine and it's just not good enough. Labour is committed to delivering a better deal for mental health and I will hold a Labour government to account for keeping that promise.
