___ 500 Pound Rock Party! #RocksRock

Are you ready to explore blazing volcanoes, ancient beaches, and amazing crystals? Enjoy nature's treasures as we discover the rock cycle in a hands-on rock lab! Every student gets samples of each of the three rock types (sedimentary, igneous, metamorphic) to launch their own rock collections!

___ Benny's Bug Rodeo! #BugBox

Explore how bugs use their environments to survive and thrive! Students will enjoy exploring real live bug specimens, and they'll learn the tips and tricks on how to take care of their own bug habitats!

___ Good Vibrations: Buzz, Hum, and Squeak! #NoisyMuseum

Can you listen to music through your teeth? How loud is an astronaut burp? Could a weird noise make you barf? Come ride the sound waves as we play with roaring balloons, clucking cups, and screaming tennis balls! This lab is sure to resonate with students as they discover the sound energy found in everyday life!

The school or hosting organization agrees to:

1. List the author visit on the school/organization calendar and/or website.
2. Send the attached event announcement to all parents/members in advance of the visit.
3. Collect enough book orders to fulfill the terms of your chosen booking selection as applicable.
4. Display attached event announcement prominently in advance of the visit.
5. Prepare students for the visit by sharing Alan's bio with them, discussing his books in class or library time, and preparing possible questions for him in advance of the presentation.
6. E-mail alan@WorthLearning.org a proposed schedule/itinerary for the visit as soon as possible.
7. Contact any local media outlets that may want to share the cool things your campus is doing. (We can provide a press release template for you if needed.)
8. Provide speaker with a place to park and unload specimens, a digital projector, a document camera, screen, 3 tables for specimens, sound hookup for digital presentation, and a microphone. (If your school doesn't have this equipment, please let me know in the above space so I can adjust accordingly.)
9. Autograph table: Alan will need a table and chair with a place to display books and sign autographs between sessions. The table should be away from the stage or presentation area, and should have extra order forms available for handing out.
10. Provide a lunch/meal for any half- or full-day visit. School lunch or dining with faculty/students is fine.
11. Teacher/staff support: On the day of the visit, teachers will stay with their class, and will be vigilant about monitoring student behavior during the presentation. Students respond best when teachers are actively modeling appropriate behavior.
12. Designate someone to take photographs and provide media releases as needed.
13. Pay the total fee (above) on or before the day of the visit.
14. Get really excited and share that excitement with your students or members!

***In case of cancellation, the author's visit will be rescheduled within the school year, or the school will pay one third of the fee if the visit cannot be rescheduled within the year.
