Vendor Space Selection & Other Details

Vendor spots are rented on a first come, first serve basis. This is an annual community festival supporting the Craig Volunteer Fire Department. Craig is a farming and fly-fishing community located on the banks of the blue-ribbon fly fishing Missouri River. Festival participants are folks from surrounding communities who enjoy spending an afternoon in Craiglandia, checking out silent and live auction items, having a brew or refreshment, listening to good music, and visiting the BBQ contestants and fly shops. Montana made items are encouraged but not required. Originality and creativity, like that exhibited in and around Craig, is greatly appreciated.

Vendor spots are rented on a first come, first serve basis and at the discretion/judgment of the festival committee. Rent for a 10' x 10' vendor spot is $50 for the day, or $35 with any merchandise donation for auction. A donation is not required but encouraged if you'd like to participate with said donation in the silent auction or live auction (at discretion of committee) and/or promote your business. You'll be given your registration packet during the afternoon upon your arrival. The festival events begin at 4 p.m. but vendors are welcome to set up anytime during the afternoon (as in, after twelve noon). You've got to give Craig time in the morning to get all those fly fishers out the door and on the river, then to get organized to welcome all the other visitors!
