Foxhole Bingo Lounge celebrates one-year anniversary with new Las Vegas partnership

Maplewood, MN – On Sept. 16, 2024, Foxhole Bingo Lounge will celebrate its one-year anniversary, marking a year of remarkable success and community engagement. Located below the Crooked Pint Ale House, Foxhole Bingo Lounge has quickly become a favorite among bingo players. This success is due to its player-centric approach and commitment to offering some of the highest payouts in the Twin Cities. As the Foxhole reaches this milestone, it is also embarking on an exciting new partnership with the Plaza Hotel & Casino, a renowned bingo establishment in Downtown Las Vegas, known for some of the highest bingo payouts in the country.

Hill-Murray Foundation Executive Director Chris Zupfer, Hill-Murray School President, and the Foxhole Bingo Lounge Management Team officially welcomed players into the Lounge at the Grand Opening on Sept. 16, 2023.

A year of growth and community support

Since opening on Sept. 16, 2023, Foxhole Bingo Lounge has become a destination for bingo players across the Twin Cities. The Lounge's success stems from its deep connection with the community and its commitment to creating a space where players feel valued and heard. The Lounge is particularly known for offering the highest payouts in the Twin Cities, consistently reaching the state legal limit for its bonanza games, Saturday Night Spectacular sessions, and high-stakes "Las Vegas-style" tournaments held monthly.

"Our focus has always been on our players," says Gambling Manager Mike Oscarson. "We're thrilled with the success we've achieved in just one year and are excited about what the future holds."

A game-changing partnership

As Foxhole Bingo Lounge celebrates its first anniversary, it is also unveiling a new partnership with the Plaza Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas. The Plaza, located in the heart of Downtown Las Vegas, is a legendary bingo destination known for hosting some of the most enticing bingo events in the country, including their signature Super Bingo tournaments. The collaboration will officially launch during Foxhole Bingo Lounge's "Foxaversary Days" celebration, which runs from Sept. 9-15.

"Foxaversary Days" Celebration

The highlight of this partnership will be a special giveaway on Sunday, Sept. 15, where one lucky winner at each of the four sessions will receive a trip for two to Las Vegas. The prize package includes roundtrip airfare for two, a 4-night stay at the Plaza Hotel & Casino, admission for two to the Plaza's $160,000 Super Bingo event happening Nov. 11-13, 6-on paper packs for two days of play, two daubers, free lunches and drinks during the games, and, of course, the chance to win big in Las Vegas!

For more information on Foxaversary Days, see the ad on page 15.

Supporting education on the East Side

Beyond the excitement of the games, Foxhole Bingo Lounge is a charitable organization, owned and operated by the Hill-Murray Fathers Club. The Foxhole donates all proceeds to support education on the East Side of St. Paul.

Whether you're a regular player or new to the Lounge, the "Foxaversary Days" celebration is the perfect time to visit Foxhole Bingo Lounge and join in the excitement. Who knows? You might soon be on your way to Las Vegas, ready to compete in the Plaza Hotel & Casino's Super Bingo Event—an adventure you'll never forget.

Gaming News

Brit teen arrested for casino hack

A collaboration among a UK Regional Organized Crime Unit, the FBI, and MGM security is responsible for apprehending a 17-year-old suspect suspected to be involved in the MGM cyberattack last September. The unnamed boy was arrested in central England and will, reportedly, be charged with blackmail and several offenses under the Computer Misuse Act. No details were revealed about how or if the suspect might be affiliated with the hacker gangs that claimed responsibility for the MGM attack, as well as a separate hack of Caesars Entertainment computer systems. Caesars paid a $15 million ransom; MGM refused to pay and suffered several weeks of disruption, costing an estimated $100 million.

New Poker World Champ

A 38-year-old from Humble, Texas, described as "unassuming" and the roommate of Joe McKeehen, 2015 WSOP Main Event winner, earned his bracelet and a $10 million payday when he beat Jordan Griff in an epic heads-up match, not to mention surviving the other 10,111 players who entered this year's World Series of Poker. Jonathan Tamayo shared a house in Las Vegas with McKeehen, who was on the rail cheering him on the whole way. It took 235 hands at the final table and 65 of heads-up play for Tamayo to beat Griff. The flop was nine-high, Tamayo moved all in, and Griff called with top pair. But Tamayo had flopped two pair and he held on through the turn and river to take the bracelet, the $10 million, and his name and photo on the winners wall at the Horseshoe.

Breeze offers new direct flights

Low-cost-carrier Breeze Airways has announced a new non-stop route between Las Vegas and New Orleans starting on February 5 of next year. Breeze will fly six roundtrips a week, one each on Sunday, Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday on Airbus A220-300s. The flights will leave LAS shortly before midnight and land at Louis Armstrong International in New Orleans at 6 a.m. It flies back at 8:30 p.m., landing at 10 o'clock. Fares haven't been announced yet, but they're expected to be competitive with Southwest, Spirit, and Frontier's, the other airlines that fly direct between the two cities.

A cowboy-Bingo experience

Embracing the recent "Cowboy Core" trend, Mecca Bingo is adding a new spin to its U.K. clubs with the launch of free line dancing classes. Designed to cater to the rising interest in cowboy-related activities among Brits, these classes offer bingo enthusiasts a way to celebrate their winning lines by dancing them out. The initiative comes at a time when 32% of Brits are keen to explore the so-called "Cowboy Core" trend, evident in the 129% surge in Google searches for "line dancing" since the beginning of 2024. With country-inspired albums soaring to the top of the charts and cowboy-themed fashion making waves globally, the fascination with the Wild West has officially reached the shores of Britain. In an attempt to lead the charge, Mecca Bingo is tapping into this trend by offering "Line to Win" dance classes, where players can enjoy line dancing sessions alongside their bingo games.

Vegas casinos big on Bingo for locals

To some, it doesn't even seem like gambling because it's played so often in church charity events. But several casinos in Southern Nevada, most of them that cater to Las Vegas locals, offer bingo sessions daily and games frequently draw big crowds. The Nevada Gaming Control Board reported that there were between 30 and 34 licensed bingo halls in the state in 2023, 22 in Clark County. They generated $45.6 million in gross gaming revenue for casinos statewide in 2023, with $43.3 million of that occurring in Clark County, up around 3.5 percent from a year earlier. Where can you play the game first played in Italy in the 16th century? Here's a list of Southern Nevada's prominent bingo halls:

Summer Bingo event boosts charity

The Kids-N-Hope Foundation of Philadelphia, Illinois raised around $11,500 during their summer Purse and Power Tool Bingo event, where 160 attendees enjoyed a night of bingo, raffles, and time with friends and family all while supporting the Foundation's mission to fund music therapy programs and other child-related services. The Kids-N-Hope Foundation was organized by American Heritage Credit Union in 1996 and has since distributed more than $3.8 million dollars through its fundraising efforts.

he claimed he was paralyzed and confined to a wheelchair. He was granted disability. The Office of Inspector General, however, investigated and discovered that the veteran was able to go up and down stairs, walk, bend, lift, carry, work out at the gym and more.

The only time he used a wheelchair was when he had to go to the VA for a medical appointment. He'd load the wheelchair into the car by himself, use the wheelchair while at the VA, then put it back in the car. This was caught on years of surveillance footage, and he was arrested. Hint to thieves who want to pull a similar scam: Don't post photos and videos of yourself lifting weights and posing in front of mirrors at the gym.

Then there was the guy who collected and swapped kiddie porn across the internet. He was a big supplier in his state and was arrested when his devices were searched and thousands of images discovered. While on bond for that charge, a year later, it was learned that a certain facility had suddenly become a hotbed of swapping over the internet, determined by the IP address. That facility was a VA residential living facility, and the guy had just moved in. His devices were seized, and you guessed it, there were hundreds more images on them.

No, these people aren't very bright.

SAGITTARIUS (NOV 23-DEC 21): September finds you irritable and antsy. You're feeling restless and may be trapped by a situation that you've avoided confronting. Gather your courage, and then, on the full Moon on the 17th, let go of what no longer supports your emotional life.

Veterans Post

When scammers make mistakes

In the not-too-bright department, a veteran threatened to blow up a Department of Veterans Affairs medical facility. First he called the crisis line and made multiple threats to blow up a facility. Two days later he texted the crisis line and said he would take out all the VA facilities, and he identified which employee he wanted to kill. He indicated his location, and was found and arrested.

Then there was the guy who claimed he was paralyzed and couldn't walk. Yes, he was injured earlier, but got treatment and was apparently doing well. Suddenly, a few years later,

DEAR PAWS: My Labrador mix, "Barney," has a bad gas problem. I monitor his food intake and have even tried putting him on a special diet food, but he continues to emit noxious odors – not just after eating, but throughout the day. Barney is about 9 years old and was adopted from the shelter. —Jesse B., Independence, MO

DEAR JESSE: If you haven't taken Barney to the vet lately, please do so. As a senior dog, Barney could be developing some problems, including digestive issues, that manifest in a stinky way.

If your dog seems agitated, if he is constantly panting or whining, if he drinks water constantly — these can be signs of a problem. Check his stools when he eliminates; loose or runny indicates a problem — perhaps minor, perhaps not.

If Barney spends any unsupervised time outside, even just in the backyard, consider whether he has eaten anything he shouldn't.

Dogs also have a tendency to over-eat when given the chance. Secure his dog food well and monitor his eating, just in case. He may just need a diet that is designed for him, but let the veterinarian make recommendations based on his diagnosis.

Guy's Turn

by Guy Williams

Dirty dogs and pack pickers

Hi Guy,

There is a disabled man who plays fairly regularly at one of our church Bingos. He is in a wheelchair and also has an older companion dog that appears to help him with certain tasks. I have no problem with any of this—I think it is wonderful that there are working dogs that have learned how to assist people in need.

As I say, the dog looks pretty mature and is also a bit overweight but appears generally healthy. The problem is that the dog is a little dirty and smelly. Obviously, the man is not equipped to bathe the dog, which I think would help. Is it rude/insensitive of me to suggest that it would be good for this dog if his owner had him cleaned up a little? — West Coast Dog Lover

Hi West Coast,

That all depends on what exactly you are suggesting. If your plan is to simply tell the man that his dog is dirty and needs a bath, then yes, that is rude and insensitive. If your plan is to befriend this man, admire his dog and offer to take the pooch to a groomer or groom it yourself, then I think you are a kind, thoughtful, caring citizen whom I admire very much. It's easy to be critical of situations and behaviors

When playing Jacks or Better, one of the hands that usually confuses players is a suited high card and a suited 10 along with another unsuited high card. For example, how would you play this hand?

JH 3D QS 10H 6C

You have two playing decisions to consider:

- Hold the suited J-10 of hearts and discard the unsuited Q.
- Hold the unsuited J-Q and discard the 10.

The correct play (the one with the higher expected value, or EV) is to hold the unsuited J-Q and discard the 10.

When I first started playing video poker, I used to refer to my strategy card to be sure I was always making the right decision when my hand contained a suited high card and 10 along with another unsuited high card. Then it dawned on me that for the case of either the suited J-10 or Q-10 along with an unsuited high card holding:

- You should always hold the two unsuited high cards when the unsuited high card in the hand was adjacent to the highest-value card in the high card-10 combination.

For example, if your hand contains a suited J-10 and the other unsuited high card is a queen, you should hold the unsuited J-Q (because the queen is adjacent to the jack). Suppose a hand contains a suited J-10 and unsuited K? Since the king is not adjacent to the jack, your best hold is suited J-10. Get it?

of which we do not approve or do not fully understand. The challenge is to be willing to step up and do something positive to correct the problem. —Guy

Hi Guy,

I recently have been trying out some new Bingo games for variety of atmosphere and play. At one of the Bingos, at a Catholic school, I noticed several people in line flipping through the stack of Bingo paper for sale and choosing certain packs. I have always taken whatever pack was handed to me; most of the other people in line did the same thing. Now I am wondering why they were allowed to “select” their Bingo paper in that fashion, and what exactly makes one pack a better choice than another. Any ideas? —

Ryan, California

Hi Ryan,

I have seen a few of these pack surfers in my day and am actually acquainted with several of them. Of the three I asked about it, all answered with an explanation that was basically grounded in their particular superstition. One said she always wants the packs that are fifth and tenth in the stack. Another told me she looks for her lucky number—I think it was B-10—and only gets packs with B-10 on them. The third person said he just likes the option of choosing his own and looks for one with dark ink which he finds easiest to read.

That's as much as I've ever learned about it...except that it bugs a lot of people in line behind them because they think it looks fishy. Sounds like you did, too. —Guy

Follow the 'Adjacent Rule'

This led me to what I call the “adjacent rule” as a simple way to remember how to play J-10 and Q-10 hands. However, the adjacent rule only works for suited J-10 and Q-10. The suited K-10 (and A-10) is much lower in value than the J-10 or Q-10. Therefore, you should always hold two unsuited high cards over a suited K-10 (and you should never hold A-10).

For example, if your hand contains a suited K-10 and an unsuited Q, you should hold the unsuited K-Q. Likewise, if you have a suited A-10 and an unsuited Q, you would hold the unsuited Q-A.

An Example to Test Out

Try playing these hands using the adjacent rule, or the rules for suited K-10 and A-10 where appropriate, so you see how easy it is to make the right play.

Answers:

1. Hold the unsuited JD and QC.
2. Hold the unsuited QH and KS.
3. Hold the AH and JC.
4. Hold the JS and 10S.

The above strategy can be used for Jacks or Better (JOB) games where the flush pays six times your bet (e.g., 9/6 JOB and 8/6 JOB). You can use the above strategy for Jacks or Better games where the flush pays five times your bet (e.g., 9/5 JOB and 8/5 JOB) with this exception.

- Hold an unsuited A-Q over a suited Q-10.

It's pie time!

Dear Annie,

I was at a party where they served a pie made with molasses. It was absolutely delicious. I asked the hostess for the recipe, but she said she didn't know which guest had brought the pie. Can you help me? — Gail D., from Kokomo, Indiana

Dear Gail,

There are two possible names for your pie: Molasses Pie or ShooFly Pie. Here's a recipe for each. They're very similar and I like both. The ShooFly pie recipe is from an Amish home-maker. The Amish are excellent pie makers. —Annie

MOLASSES PIE

2 T. flour
1 c. sugar
1 tsp. baking soda
1 c. buttermilk
1 c. molasses
4 eggs (separated)
4 T. butter (softened)
2 unbaked pie shells
nutmeg (optional)

Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. In a medium-sized bowl, mix flour, sugar and nutmeg (if used). In a separate bowl, dissolve the baking soda in the buttermilk and add to the flour mixture. Beat the egg yolks in a separate bowl. Stir in the molasses, beaten egg yolks and softened butter. Divide in half and pour into the two unbaked pie shells. Bake for 30 minutes on the bottom rack of the oven. In a clean mixing bowl, beat the egg whites until stiff. This makes a meringue. Put the meringue on the top of the pies. Brown for a few minutes in the oven. Makes two pies.

SHOOFLY PIE

2 c. flour
1 ½ c. brown sugar
¼ tsp. salt
4 T. margarine
2 eggs, beaten
2 c. molasses
1 ½ c. hot water (not boiling)
2 tsp. baking soda
2 unbaked pie shells

In a mixing bowl, mix flour, sugar, salt and margarine together until crumbly. Reserve two cups for topping. Preheat the oven to 450 degrees. To the remaining crumb mixture, add the eggs, molasses and one cup hot water. Mix well. Add the baking soda to ½ cup hot water and add to mixture. Pour the mixture into the two pie shells. Top with reserved crumbs. Bake for 10 minutes. Reduce the heat to 375 degrees and bake for an additional 30 minutes or until tops of pies are dry. Makes two pies.

Dear Aunt Bingo

by Bonnie Mitchell

Stop the talk!

Dear Aunt Bingo,

My husband and I recently started going to Bingo after my sister said that it was an enjoyable experience. We looked into it and found several nearby. Not knowing what to expect the first time around, we showed up gung-ho and ready to learn and play.

Our first experience was a little bit of a struggle due to some people's need to continuously talk and talk and talk! On one occasion, the Bingo caller pointed out some talkers and threatened to escort them out. Instead of them owning up to the disrespectful rule-breaking, they began arguing with the caller. My husband and I just shook our heads. Has it come to this? We are all over 18, so why become insulted and embarrassed when you are pointed out of the crowd. Geez, you're an adult. You were blabbing your big mouth, were told to shut up, so apologize and shut up!

And let's not forget about the phones. My phone has the vibrate function—why don't they use theirs?

Following is Bingo etiquette my husband and I follow.

1. Pipe down and keep quiet.
2. Watch out for lucky seats.
3. Don't be a parrot.

4. Don't take out your frustrations on the caller.
5. Pay close attention to the game pattern.
6. Think before you call out Bingo.
7. Silence your cell phone.
8. Be helpful and respectful.

It was a pleasure learning about Bingo and how this daubing sport affects so many lives. So, why is it so hard to shut up, silence your phone, and enjoy Bingo respectfully? —Just Saying, via e-mail

Dear Just Saying,

If they had a Bingo police squad, I definitely would put in your name for High Commissioner. Enforcement would certainly be thorough and absolute!

All kidding aside, I appreciate your email and certainly agree that at times the chit-chat at Bingo can get out of hand. I think many times it is unintentional...like when friends begin a quiet, whispered conversation that slowly gets louder and louder the longer it goes on. They don't do it on purpose; they simply get engrossed in their discussion and forget there are others around.

Phones are another matter entirely. I mean, the motion picture industry has created short films and distributed them to movie theaters throughout North America begging people to silence their cell phones before the start of the show so that the ringing doesn't disturb the rest of audience. Why? Because cell phones are loud, annoying, intrusive and distracting. (I'm still waiting for a film that asks people to turn off their illuminated phone screens in movie theaters, which bug me no end.)

So, Just Saying, I want to thank you for adding your thoughts to the ongoing debate over talking at Bingo. Maybe your email will help bring the volume down. —Aunt Bingo

Savvy Senior

"You ask the senior question, we find the savvy answer!"

Kitchen safety

Dear Savvy Senior,

My 77-year-old mother, who loves to cook has had several kitchen-related accidents over the past year. What tips can you recommend for making a kitchen safer and more practical for seniors, without doing a big expensive remodel. — Inquiring Daughter

Dear Inquiring,

There are a number of small improvements and simple modifications you can do that can make a big difference in making your mom's kitchen safer and easier to maneuver. Depending on her needs, here are some tips for different aspects of her kitchen.

Lights: If the lighting in your mom's kitchen needs improvement, replace the old overhead fixture with a bright new ceiling light, and add LED lighting under upper kitchen cabinets to brighten up her kitchen countertops.

Floors: If she has kitchen throw rugs, to reduce tripping or slipping, replace them with non-skid floor mats or consider gel mats, which are cushiony and more comfortable to stand on for long periods. GelPro.com and WellnessMats.com offer a nice selection.

Cabinets and drawers: To reduce bending or reaching, organize your mom's kitchen cabinets and drawers so that the items she most frequently uses are within comfortable reach. You can also make her lower cabinets and pantry easier to access by installing pullout shelves or Lazy Susans. And, by installing pull-down shelves in her upper cabinets (see Rev-a-shelf.com) so she doesn't have to get on a stool to reach things on high shelves. I also recommend replacing her cabinet and drawer knobs with D or C shaped pull-handles because they're more comfortable to grasp than knobs.

Faucet: If your mom has a twist-handle kitchen faucet, replace it with an ADA compliant single handle faucet, or with a touch, motion or digital smart faucet. They're easier to operate, especially if she has arthritis or gripping problems. And, for safety purposes, set her hot water tank at 120 degrees to prevent possible water burns.

Microwave and cooktop safety: If your mom's microwave is mounted above her stove, consider moving it, or get her a small microwave for the countertop so she doesn't have to reach over a cooktop to insert or remove food. And if you're worried about your mom forgetting to turn off the stove there are automatic shut-off devices you can purchase and install to prevent a fire. iGuardStove (iGuardFire.com) makes one of the best smart shutoff devices for gas and electric stoves. And to guard against microwave fires, there's the SmartMicro microwave shutoff made by Pioneering Technology (PioneeringTech.com).

Shopping for Appliances

If you're looking to upgrade some of your mom's appliances, here are some different features to keep in mind.

Refrigerator: French-door refrigerators that open in the middle are great for seniors because it makes it easier to see and reach what's inside. Pullout adjustable height shelves and a water/ice dispenser on the outside of the door are also very convenient.

Stove or cooktop: Look for one with controls in the front so your mom won't have to reach over hot burners to turn it off, and make sure the controls are easy to see. Flat surface electric or induction burners, or continuous grates on gas stoves are also great for sliding heavy pots and pans from one burner to the next. And ask about automatic shut off burners.

Oven: Self-cleaning ovens are a plus and consider a side-swing door model. They're easier to get into because you don't have to lean over a hot swing-down door. Also consider a wall-mounted oven, installed at your mom's preferred height to eliminate bending.

Dishwasher: Consider a drawer-style dishwasher that slides in and out for easier access and, if possible, have it installed on a raised platform 12 to 24 inches above floor level so it can be loaded and unloaded without bending over.

Washer and dryer: Front-load washers and dryers with pedestals that raise the height around 24 inches are also back-savers and easier to access.

Casino Q&A

Q: Do Canadian casinos report jackpot wins of U.S. citizens to the IRS?

A: No. Canadian casinos don't tax any casino player. The player gets the full amount of a win. And unlike U.S. casinos, Canadian casinos are not required to report gambling wins to the IRS.

However, the IRS considers winnings from any source of gambling as income. And U.S. citizens must declare any slot machine profits above $1,200 on Income Tax Form 1040 under Other Income ($600 on sports and $5,000 on poker). If you have any questions about Canadian winnings, speak with a tax consultant.

Q: Sometimes I see winning symbols appear just above or below the pay line. Does this mean anything?

A: No. It's what's called the "near-miss" feature. Many players get tricked into staying at a slot when they start seeing winning symbols appearing just above, below, or partially on the pay line. They think they just missed the payout by a hair, and it's a sign that the next few spins will do the trick. They won't. Winning symbols that occasionally appear above or below the screen line are simply part of a losing spin. And a losing spin is no sign of what's going to happen when you make the next 10 or 100 spins. Just ignore these "near-miss" winning symbols.

Q: Is it better to play slot machines during the week or on weekends?

A: A slot machine is nothing but a computer in slot's clothing. And being a computerized machine, it doesn't know or care what day of the week it is. So, there's no "better" day of the week to play it.

Lucky Lotto News

Lightning can strike twice

A North Carolina man appears to have the Midas touch following his recent second lottery win—but instead of using the winnings solely for himself, he's aiming to use the funds to help his community. John Robbins, from Wilmington, first won the lottery for $2 million in May 2022. Now, he's continuing his streak thanks to another win earlier this month for $100,000—with both tickets purchased at the same location. Speaking with the North Carolina Education Lottery, Robbins said of the dual wins, "I was told lightning can't strike twice but I guess it can." As for how he plans to spend his second round of lottery winnings, Robbins told NC Education Lottery that his "dreams" include helping those who need it in his community. "My dream is to make a difference in Wilmington," he said. "I want to give back to people here who are less fortunate. I want to do something to help change that."

Father-daughter wins

One Kentucky father and daughter have super luck. William Fannin, a retired teacher from Hazard, Ky., scored a $50,000 prize after purchasing a Powerball ticket on May 13th. For the past 25 years, Fannin has purchased a Powerball ticket every week at the same store, but on May 13, he decided to stop at a Zip Zone instead. Fannin explained to Kentucky Lottery that when he went to scan the ticket, he was "numb" when the number "came up $50,000." His win came as a surprise since his family already had luck with the lottery: three months earlier, William's daughter Starla also scored her own lottery prize. In February, she won a $150,438.47 prize after playing the Merry Money Bonus Jackpot Instant Play game online. "She was probably more tickled than me," William said of his daughter's reaction to his win. "She was so excited!" William walked away with $36,000 after taxes. He shared with Kentucky Lottery that he and Frieda do not have plans for their new chunk of change at the moment but said it will be put to good use since he retired from teaching in 2020.

An interesting hand

I recently played an interesting hand in a $1,000 buy-in live tournament where we started with 30,000 chips at 100/200 with hour-long levels, meaning there was lots of time to hang out and wait for strong hands. Everyone at my table was doing exactly that, so I adjusted my strategy and made a point to steal every pot once it was clear no one was interested in winning it.

This allowed me to double my starting stack within three hours with almost no risk, which is always an amazing result. However, when you are constantly pushing your opponents around, your observant opponents will eventually assume that you are overly wild and may adjust.

At 300/600 with a 600 big blind ante, an overly weak, tight player who was clearly waiting for strong preflop cards raised to 1,500 out of his 22,000 stack from first position. The hijack and button called. I looked down at the AdKc— normally a premium hand—in the small blind and just called.

When facing a first-position raiser who almost certainly has a premium hand, bloating the pot from out of position will usually get you in trouble. Ace-king will only win around 40% of the time against a range containing exactly A-A, K-K, Q-Q, J-J, and A-K, which is likely what you will be against if the initial raiser decides to re-re-raise.

If you re-raise and the initial raiser calls, everyone else will usually call too, forcing you to play a four-way pot from out of position. Since both of these results are quite bad, calling is the best play because it forces your opponents to stay in the pot with hands you dominate while also under-representing your hand.

The flop came As10d8c giving me top pair. I checked, as I would do with all of my hands from out of position in a multi-way pot, and the initial raiser bet 3,000 into the 7,200 pot. Everyone folded around to me.

While I would normally call in this situation to keep my opponent in the pot with hands that are drawing thin, such as A-J and K-K, I was convinced that my opponent liked his hand. Since I had an ace in my hand, I am unlikely to be against pocket aces. I also thought it was fairly unlikely that he had pocket eights because he would have limped with that preflop (just to be clear, limping eights is vastly inferior to raising).

This meant that unless he has exactly pocket tens, I am either chopping against ace-king or ahead against ace-queen or ace-jack. I did not get the vibe that my opponent would fold his strong hands because most amateur players who use an overly tight preflop strategy tend to stick around way too long post-flop with their marginal made hands. They feel that since they so rarely enter the pot, they must win every time they connect with the board.

So, I went all in for my opponent's 17,500 remaining stack. My opponent proudly called and turned up the AhQh. He could not believe it when I turned up ace-king because in his mind, I "must" reraise with that hand before the flop. The turn and river did not help my opponent and I added even more chips to my already large stack early in the tournament.

What's New in Nevada

Miracle Eats on its way

TravelandTourWorld.com reports that the Miracle Mile Shops will open a new "food collective" this winter. It will be called Miracle Eats and feature Tacotarian, the Las Vegas-based vegetarian taqueria; Dave's Hot Chicken; Fat Sal's, a sandwich shop with six locations in southern California; and Carnegie Pizza, straight from Times Square in Manhattan. Lobster ME, the existing Maine-inspired eatery at Miracle Mile, will be revamped for Miracle Eats with a new look and menu. And Fat Tuesday will open a second location at the Shops for Miracle Eats, which is currently under construction near the south entrance of the mall.

Big Venetian jackpot

Eagles add four more shows

According to published reports, "overwhelming demand" has prompted, for the third time, the Eagles to add four more shows to its burgeoning residency at Sphere. Announced in June, the residency started with eight shows in September and October. Then it was extended to 12 shows, with four in November. Then it went to 16 shows, with four in December. Now it's 20 shows, with another four in January: 17, 18, 24, and 25.

Cosmo Penthouses go public

An advertorial on TravelandLeisure.com "exclusively confirmed" that the Boulevard Penthouse collection of 25 suites at the Cosmopolitan, previously reserved for high rollers and unavailable at any price, can now be rented by us hoi polloi. The penthouses range from 2,000-square-feet for a one-bedroom at $5,000 to 5,000-square feet for the four-bedroom at $30,000. And yes, that's per night.

Las Vegas weddings worth billions

A total of 1.6 million people came to Las Vegas in 2023, either to get married or to attend a wedding being held here, according to the Vegas Wedding Chamber of Commerce. In total, they generated $2.2 billion in economic activity. The county Marriage License Bureau issued 74,275 licenses last year, up slightly from pre-pandemic 2019 and helped by more international travelers opting for a Vegas wedding.
