Pasture Raised Chicken

At Birkeland Farm we strive to raise the best quality chicken possible. The birds spend about 2 weeks in a heated brooder as chicks and are then moved to pasture.

The birds are grown to full size in Salatin style movable pens, which provide full access to sun, shade, shelter, grass and bugs. They are moved daily to new fresh pasture and are fed a locally milled no corn, no soy feed. Professionally processed and packaged, they are delicious!

Chickens are available May through October. End of season quantities are available as supplies last.

We offer whole birds as well as cut up breasts, hindquarters, wings and giblets.
