CG Rules

Since the pool opening in 1964 a group of rules have been established and more commonly known as CG Rules. It is impossible to explicitly state all "CG Rules" since they have never been listed, they've just been passed down through the generations. Here is an attempted compilation for the sake of the tournament.

- Use any part of your body to get the ball over the net, within three hits (no double-hits).
- Touching the net is legal.
- Balls landing on the line are in.
- The ivy and poles are to be played off of, if ball hits the ivy or poles and lands in the court it is a point.
- Rotations are not mandatory, set up as you please, but you must rotate through servers.
- Serves can be overhand or underhand, it doesn't matter which you choose.
- The score must be called out before every serve to alert the other team.
- Points are scored on every serve, not just when the serving team scores.
- The ball cannot be carried.
- Try not to land under the net, as the other team can roll an ankle or twist a knee if they land on you.
- Games are played to 21, but must be won by 2 or more points.
- You can't lose on your own serve, the other team must score on you.
- Teams do not have to be co-ed.

Any other undocumented circumstances that arise on game day will be decided by the tournament official.
