AMARILLO, Texas (KFDA) - Potter County officials are warning residents about a scam that says the victim is under investigation for money laundering and drug trafficking.

According to officials, the scammers are sending messages saying the person's Amazon account was hacked.

If you respond to the message, they transfer you to a fraudulent OIG Federal Agent who says you are under investigation for money laundering and drug trafficking.

The release say you are then asked for personal information relating to bank accounts and specific identification.

NRA Armed Citizen from April 2023 Magazines

On the morning of March 1, a 29-year-old man allegedly broke into a home in El Paso, Texas, and shot a dog. A 37-year-old resident returned fire before the perpetrator could do more after which the suspect fled. He was found at a nearby intersection yelling for help and saying that he had been shot, whereupon he was transported to a local hospital. Police intended to charge the home invader with burglary of habitation once he was released from the hospital. The residents of the home were uninjured; the condition of the wounded dog was unknown. Wrong House Raid Highlights Continuing Danger to Public from Police Responders

Ammoland Inc. Posted on April 12, 2023, by David Codrea

"Farmington police shoot and kill man after responding to wrong home," Albuquerque's NBC affiliate KOB4 Eyewitness News reported Friday on an incident from the previous Wednesday.

Police were responding to a domestic violence call and "mistakenly approached the wrong house."

That leaves open the question of how police got the address wrong in the first place. What checklist procedures are in place to preclude an armed response and the assumptions that go with one until a positive identification has been established? Were those procedures followed? It also makes it imperative that the investigation be open and complete, especially in light of a prevalence of "wrong house raids," resulting in headlines like:

The Avidity Arms PD10 – TPPC Range Event.

The Avidity Arms company was founded by Rob Pincus and Micheal Sodini, the idea tracing its routes back to a conversation in a bar in 2013. The PD10 Pistol Design was established as the company's first project in 2014. After a couple starts and restarts, the company was eventually moved to Florida and, in 2019, Chuck Usina was added to the ownership team. The three of them were joined by Joe Worley in 2022 and the company relocated again to Fletcher, North Carolina.

Club Member Jerry Brunson was able to bring this to Amarillo for us to shoot as a demo. See flyer with the Newsletter Email for more information about the pistol and dates/times to check it out.
