

After John and Jenny Manchester married in 2008, they decided upon foster care as their mission in life.

After training, they were good-to-go with the sudden drop-offs, the goodbyes, the inspections, and the appointments. They had 13 different placements over six years with 10 of them infants. While they fostered, John worked at the Target Warehouse and Jenny at various office jobs.

One day, friends forwarded them an email seeking prayers for foster parents at a Christian children's ranch and asked J&J to consider the opportunity. After much prayer, they applied and were accepted!

As the Manchester's prepared for their move, they waited patiently for the adoption of their two foster children, Josiah and Ketina.

With adoption papers in hand, the Manchester family moved to The Ranch on May 1, 2017. They are now parenting girls alongside their two little ones.
