

The Tale of True Prosperity - Continued

Before I go on about myself, let's get caught up!

In October of my yearling year, I went to school at In Front Training in Ghent, NY. They said I was a natural - very willing and cooperative.

Then, in December, I went back to the farm for a little vacation until April. I then went to Overbrook Farm in Colts Neck, NJ to continue my lessons and shortly after, to Monmouth Park for real race training. Finally! I even got to work with my BFF, Romancing the Cat.

During this time, I had to think about who I wanted to run for. Since I was born near Walkill, NY where they started, I chose the Thoroughbred Retirement Foundation. I will donate every time I earn so I hope to do well for them!

This brings us to my 3-year-old year. I couldn't wait to run my first race! On January 11, 2019 I made my debut at Aqueduct. Let me tell you, it was a horrible experience! I didn't like the trip from New Jersey or all the hustle and bustle. I didn't break from the gate well - and I always do that like a pro! My attitude got the best of me, finishing fifth out of sixth.

After that, I got a little break to get my head together and then resumed training. I started getting special "spa days" too!

There was a race on May 11th at Monmouth Park that I was preparing for. It was a field of seven but I was on my home track. I got this.

On that day, come the 8th race, I strutted into the paddock to be saddled. With jockey up, I went out onto the track and into the gate. I was bumped at the start. I said to myself, "Keep it together!" And I did. And I came from last to first. What a day!

My next race on May 25th at Monmouth, I came in second. I was disappointed but everyone was so happy and proud of me!

Anyway, I can't wait to race again and show off my stuff!

Stay tuned...
