Birth, Education, Marriage of Sri Hanuman

Anjana Devi and Kesari (Monkey King) lived in the 24th Treta Yuga. Desiring a son, Anjana Devi prayed to Vayu Bhagavan (Wind God). After considerable time, Vayu Bhagavan gave her an oval shaped fruit containing energitic illumination. She soon became pregnant and delivered on the Vaisaka month, Bahula Paksha (dark half of the moon), Dasami Tithi (tenth day), Mandavaara (Saturday), the star being Purvabhadra, the Yoga being Vyudrutinama. The child was born around noon with all divine ornaments. (In some places, Chitra Sudha Purnima Tuesday is considered as the birthday). Anjaneya Swami derived His name from his mother Anjana Devi. His chin was broken by the Vajrayuda of Indra in a battle. Since then He is also known as Hanuman derived from 'Hanwa Asti' or broken chin. When Hanuman sought Surya (The Sun God) to be His guru, Surya Bhagavan said, 'I orbit rapidly all the time. How could I teach you?' Hanuman replied, 'Sir (Acharya), I will place my legs on the extreme points of your orbit, and align my face with you'. Surya taught his worthy disciple the 4 Vedas, and 5 grammar topics out of 9, and mentioning that the remain 4 grammar topics could be taught only to a married person. When asked to resolve the tangle, Surya asked Hanuman to marry His daughter Suvarchala (a radiant girl). Hanuman said that since He was an avowed brahmachari (one whose mind always dwells on God, and is therefore a celibate), He could marry Suvarchala only if she too was willing to remain a celibate. The girl consented for the arrangement. Thus Hanuman of Koundinya gotra was wedded with Suvarchala of Kasyapa gotra, even though not many people are aware of the fact that Lord Hanuman was married amidst much celebration. Thereafter, Hanuman was able to learn the remaining 4 grammar topics that were denied earlier. Since then Hanuman is being considered as Nava Vyakarana Pandit.

Reverence and Gratitude Yagna for Parents

Sunday May 8th , June 19th 2016 : Time: 10am – 12noon

Sri Shirdi Sai Baba Temple is conducting a spiritual marriage and Homam to honor couples and single parents who are above 60 years. To recognize the importance of parents is the duty of every person. Mother is the highest God and Father is the treasure. Parents teach us sacred principles like love, compassion, forbearance, tolerance and sacrifice. It is our duty to honor and show love and gratitude to our elderly parents. They are equivalent to Shiva and Parvati.

Prelude: During MAHA BHARATA in the Udyoga Parva, Sanjaya (minister of Dhritarastra) was sent as an ambassador to Dharmaraja for Raya Bharam (negotiations). Sanjaya conveyed during the negotiations the concerns of the elderly parents, the blind and disabled who were worried about who will be the next emperor and who will take care of them.

The Raya Bharam failed because the Kauravas did not budge on their position. Negotiations were conducted by Sanjaya delicately like the saying “without killing the snake or breaking the stick”. The Kauravas stated that they will not give anything, and that the Pandavas shall continue to beg and suffer for the rest of their lives, since they were already accustomed. As Sanjaya was leaving, Dharmaraja accompanied him beyond the doorstep and told Sanjaya that he will take care of the concerns of the elderly parents, the blind and the disabled. This tradition of respecting the elderly has been inculcated in our culture and with in our traditions and rituals.

Sri Shirdi Sai Baba Temple is performing a reverence and gratitude yagna to honor our elderly.
