SEA SERVICES LUNCHEON OCTOBER 18, 2017

OUR NUCLEAR NAVY --- AN EXCELLENT CAREER OPPORTUNITY FOR OUR YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN

As one of the missions of the Navy League is educating the public regarding all aspects of our sea services, we are excited to present to you at this fall's Sea Services Luncheon an update on our nuclear Navy and its exciting career opportunities for our young men and women. Please consider inviting your Sea Cadets, JROTC Students, college students and their parents to hear about this opportunity.

Navy Nuclear Officers who man billions-of-dollars of nuclear powered vessels are held to the highest of standards and have extraordinary roles and responsibilities. There are five career paths: Submarine Officer, Surface Warfare Officer, Naval Reactors Engineer, Nuclear Power Training Unit Instructor and Nuclear Power School Instructor.

NUPOC Recruiter, LT Nelson Brandon Diggs, from Newport News, will share with us about this exciting program – Nuclear Propulsion Officer Candidate Program (NUPOC).

The Navy Nuclear Propulsion Program obligation is five years during which time only selected: disciplined and committed Officers are given the opportunity to serve on some of the most technologically advanced equipment in the world. (note: the U.S. Nuclear Navy is comprised of 13 carriers & 66 sub-marines) ✍
