

SUBMITTED PHOTO

Stinsons attend National Police Week

Elizabeth Stinson, representing the Palmyra Police Dept., shakes hands with Vice President Mike Pence at the White House last month during National Police Week. Standing next to her is her husband Patrick Stinson, a member of the Indiana State Police, who performed duties as part of the ISP Honor Guard, during the memorial service in Washington, D.C.

