

Through the Playoff and into the Boros-Bayer-Burkhart Exhibition with Al Bailey

—Gazette photos by John McIvor

SURVIVES 'SUDDEN DEATH' — Al Bailey, 18, provided a thrilling finish to Sunday's final elimination for the Boros-Bayer exhibition Saturday by winning a sudden-death playoff with Steve Kehrer. In the first picture Al watched jubilantly as he drilled in a birdie putt on the 18th hole. After retrieving the ball, he hurled it triumphantly into the crowd as Pro Bob Stuppel prepared to putt. Then came the extra hole, and Bailey (third picture) won it with a three-foot birdie putt. He accepted the congratulations of a gracious loser, Steve Kehrer, and Picture 5 shows the amateur who will play Julius Boros, George Bayer and Pro Charlie Burkhart of Elmcrest next Saturday.