

Come and Sing Out

The most powerful memory of all of my Advent years includes singing carols, at home, in the church and on the streets.

Friends, we – “the called-out” here in the Washington and Baltimore greater area, are going to sing carols on Sundays during Advent. It is time to lift up our voices to the Lord.

Come and worship. Come and bless one another. Come and sing out.

And... what about a modern version of “magnificat” from Janet?

Can't it be our sing for this week?

*“Sing out my soul, sing of the holiness of God:
who has delighted in a woman,
lifted up the poor, satisfied the hungry, given voice to the silent,
grounded the oppressor,
blessed the full-bellied with emptiness,
and with the gift of tears those who have never wept;
who has desired the darkness of the womb, and inhabited our flesh.*

Sing of the longing of God, sing out my soul.”

Janet Motley, inspired by Luke 1:39-53 from Imaging the Word.
