President's Piece

April 2021

Dear SBOC Members, Friends and Colleagues:

Spring Training Institute Recap

I want to thank every one of you that attended the 66th Annual SBOC Training Institute. Every year, your SBOC Board strives to develop a program better than the previous year's. This year's event came with some unusual challenges in that we had to run four consecutive full day meetings via virtual reality. Each of the four meetings took scores of hours to set up, practice, and monitor. This was all done by volunteers and presenters that until this year had little or no experience with virtual meeting platforms. Please be sure to thank those volunteers. Without their dedication, this year's Spring Training Institute would have been a total disaster. Their dedication and perseverance produced some of the best code profession training ever provided over the internet.

Now that March is over, we look forward to next year's 67th Annual Training Institute. Please start giving us input on what subject matter you feel would benefit you and your peers. Please know that we will continue to offer our monthly lunch hour meetings to you free of charge until we can break bread together. Be sure to join us April 15th at 12:00 Noon to 1:30 when Matthew Gugala, Director of Workforce Development at SMART Local 265 will discuss kitchen exhaust and make-up air balancing. And remember the training is FREE! To view additional course information and registration, please see page two of this newsletter.

Upcoming Events

We have monthly meetings via Zoom April, May, and June, September, October and November planned or in the planning stages. The Board will be ironing out the details for our annual golf outing in August so be on the lookout for that announcement in a few months! And we are still hopeful of celebrating our 75th year in person come December at the annual business and holiday meeting.

Leadership Opportunities

Are you interested of honing your leadership skills? Looking for ways to increase you code knowledge? Join the SBOC Board!
