

I love to hear the Bible teachers who emphasize the unconditional love and blessings of God. He has provided healing for us in the atonement (Isa. 53:4-5). And He does not leave His children in poverty, but promises to supply all their needs (Phil. 4:19). But the ear-tickling message of these teachers often goes too far: it leaves the impression that no true believer need ever suffer want or be afflicted; and if they do, it's their fault. But that's a pipe-dream based on faulty exegesis. Paul warned the churches that, "We must through much tribulation enter into the kingdom of God." (Acts 14:22). God's people will have trials by God's wise permission. They were not appointed to worldly peace and earthly joy. Complete freedom from sickness and the pains of mortality was never promised. But the ecstasies of the Kingdom will more than make up for the "much tribulation."
All for Jesus, Richard
