Amy's Custom Jewelry, Inc.

The Daytona Flea Market is proud to be home to some of the most talented artists and craftspeople in the area. Among those, Amy Savoca of Amy's Custom Jewelry, Inc. has called the market her business home since 1988. Being the daughter of a jeweler in Bloomington, Indiana, Amy grew up learning old-school jewelry crafting, when everything was fabricated by hand. Amy honed her craft in jewelers school and quickly found her skills were in high demand. In 1985, the lure of warm weather and sandy beaches brought her and her husband, Kevin, to Daytona. For several years, local jewelry stores kept Amy busy with repairs, resizing, casting and setting their customer's jewelry. One such store was Oscar's Estate Jewelry, right here at the market. Oscar encouraged Amy and Kevin to open a repair shop in the Corner Shops Mall. The setup was ideal, as Oscar was able to access Amy's services by walking a few steps - and still does to this day as they're still neighbors here at the market. Since opening her store, Amy has done work for almost all of Daytona's jewelry stores at one time or another.

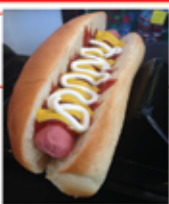

Amy and Kevin were raising their two daughters with a solid plan for their future when Kevin suddenly passed away in 2007. Amy recounts how their lives were turned upside down by this tragic event - having to make major life changes. "Having to sell our house and going from those dreams to the reality of becoming a widow and business owner and single mom of teenage girls and the struggle to keep everything together. The girls gave me the drive to keep going - and they still do."

Years later, Amy would remarry and learn a new perspective from husband, Steve. "Although dreams do change, sometimes we have to be fluid in life and decisions." Steve's guidance and business skills are now an integral part of the ongoing success of Amy's Custom Jewelry, Inc. "We are truly blessed", Amy says. She is blessed with family, blessed with the work and blessed with the customers. "Life is good today."

If you visit Amy's booth, you'll likely see her hard at work creating, repairing and re-creating cherished pieces of jewelry for her customers. If you hang around awhile, you'll probably learn a lot about jewelry as she interacts with her customers. She feels that her success comes from being honest and up-front and providing her services for a reasonable price.

Amy's entire family consists of artists of some type, from furniture design to ceramic art, which is probably why her favorite projects are creating beautiful jewelry pieces from scratch. Her custom work over the years has made its way into thousands of jewelry boxes across the country. Amy has the largest selection of wax patterns to cast. So, if you're looking for a truly personal piece of jewelry for yourself or a special person in your life, stop by Amy's Custom Jewelry, Inc. in the Corner Shops Mall this weekend.
