

The Stickman No. 23 Puzzle Box (Perpetual Hinge Box)

The Stickman No. 23 Puzzle Box is ruggedly elegant with attractive wooden hinges wrapping around it on all four sides. This leads to the conundrum of just what strategically devised plan might be required to get it open. Needless to say, there is a way. Panels can slide back and forth on their hinges, but are hindered to some degree by the positions of internal drawers. Internal drawers are, in turn, manipulated by the twisting of the dials on both ends, which move them around within the box.

Proper positioning of panels will eventually reveal an elusive clue as to how to bypass this devious “perpetual hinge”. But even then, this puzzle requires observation of the internal drawer movements before accessing all sides, and additional manipulation is also required to get the drawers out afterwards. This puzzle does not disappoint in “aha moments” as each layer of the puzzle is resolved.
