

Judy Roy

I have been painting for several years with water based oils, and occasionally acrylics.

One summer a fellow artist loaned me her pastels to try. I really enjoyed using them, so I watched YouTube videos and read books to gain more knowledge about the various types of pastels. My family gave me a set of soft pastels for Christmas in 2019 and since then have been enjoying the challenge of exploring this new medium. I like the texture, direct mark making and vibrant colours. I hope you enjoy my efforts!
