REFLEXOLOGY & PLANTAR FASCIITIS

Have you or someone you know ever experienced what would be described as a burning, stabbing, or aching pain on the sole or heel of the foot? Does it hurt especially when one first gets up in the morning or after sitting for a long period of time? Have you tried everything and it just doesn't seem to get better? If you are a therapist and you have worked and worked on the feet and found while some get better quickly, others don't? Some will have been told by their doctor that they have Plantar Fasciitis or some kind of tendonitis (many patients don't have a clue what is wrong). That is just the start of the story...

What you will learn is:

- How to determine what 'type' of Plantar Fasciitis they have by where the pain is located.
- Set up a plan for working with this in office and at home.
- Learn what muscles in the foot & legs may be the root of the problem and what to do for them.
- Learn the latest in foot taping
Learn to work Reflexology areas on the feet to assist in the healing of PF Learn how to work with Reflexology 'tools'.
- Exercises one can do at home to help one of the underlying 'causes' of PF.

EAR ACUPRESSURE REFLEXOLOGY (E.A.R.)

Ear Acupressure is said to directly connect to the yang meridians, but it is not dependent upon them. The ear is a self-contained microsystem that affects the whole body. The benefits of this modality is relaxation via improvement of Qi, decrease in pain, increase in endorphins, and the body shifting into homeostasis. It is possible to learn the basics of E.A.R. in just a few days and with a few weeks of hands-on working on clients to achieve full mastery. There is no disrobing. The ear is easily accessible while sitting. The primary side-effect is the ear itself can become tender and inflamed. Some clients become drowsy as the body relaxes due to the systemic release of endorphins. E.A.R. does not require the use of needles; we use titanium ear beads.

LANGUAGE OF THE FEET (LOF) & REI-FLEXOLOGY PRACTITIONER CERTIFICATION

Rei-flexology is a gentle form of reflexology that helps your client go into an alpha state and work on healing the emotional trauma that is filed in the sub-conscious mind. This trauma which comes up over and over in different events in our life, and sometimes in our body, is a dis-ease.

Rei-flexology is a very specific hands-on method that you do on the feet. We will be going over the systems of the body, what those systems do, and their emotional feedback (Language of the Feet) as you learn how to work each area. We will be working on each zone and system so you will know a full session at the conclusion of the workshop. The LOF portion of the class will be intermixed with the hands on portion. LOF will provide insight into what is really going on at the root level, through visual detection of characteristics of the feet. We will look at the emotions and the thoughts that causes the physical formation of corns, hard skin, blisters, cracks in certain areas, or what the colors of the feet are telling us. We will look at the size, shape, and structure of the toes and feet which gives us vital clues of an individual's blocks as well as their strengths. This fun shop is a process in which you will gain incredible insight into yourself and how you can move forward and HELP OTHERS do the same. This is an awesome and life-changing class. You will learn your gifts and if you are on your path, or how to get moving on your path!
