Commboards is an AAC Speech Assistance app that enables children and people of all ages with limited verbal abilities to express themselves and more easily communicate with the world around them, by utilizing a proved system of communication boards.

It can benefit people with Autism, Aspergers, and other common conditions related to verbal self-expression. CommBoards can be used in almost any situation, like schools, hospitals, and even during flights. After downloading CommBoards, no internet connection or mobile contract is necessary for continuous use.

CommBoards' image bank contains a rich collection of easy-to-understand imagery, as well as the option to add existing images from the device or take new photos with the device camera. Natural pronunciation of sounds and easy to understand images make it user friendly.
