1. Abzug, H. America Views the Holocaust. A brief documentary history, from 1933 on, Nazi Germany wanted the destruction of the Jewish Culture in Europe and the murder of all Jewish people including children. The Nazis almost succeeded. They killed between five and six million Jews. Were Americans apathetic bystanders of unspeakable brutality? The question is when did they know? And why did they not intervene earlier? It also reveals Americans' horror upon the realization that the reports of the Holocaust were not fabrications. A very realistic tragedy. Bedford/St Martins, Boston, 1999, VG in Vg dJ, $42.
2. Acs, Iren (recounted by) Levendel, Julia (ed.) Keep it safe. Jewish life in a Hungarian town. The history and tragedy of this area. Fifty years after the Holocaust Iren Acs collected photos from her place of birth in Szeceny to bring alive her story of a Jewish childhood in provincial Hungary. Paperwrappers, profuse. Illustrated, 86 pages, Boulevard, 2004, VG $40.
3. Adler, Hugo Balak und Bilam. Biblische Scene Aus der Schriftuebertragung von Martin Buber und Franz Rosenzweig. op 17 paperwrappers, 4to (large), 71 pages, Mannheim, 1934, tiny but rubbed along spine panel, front cover has some scratches, in VG condition, $28.
4. Alpert, Jane. Deaf People in the Holocaust. The Extraordinary Story. On the former site of the Deaf, Berlin. "From this house, fascist bandits took 146 deaf Jews and murdered them. In remembrance of the dead, to remind the living. Paperwrappers, 19 pages, illustrated, Lexington School for the Deaf, and Jewish Heritage Project, 2003, VG $28.
5. Alpert, Joel (ed.) The Memorial Book for the Jewish Community of Yurburg. Lithuania Translation and Update. Wonderful descriptions of former residents of Yurburg. Yurburg was known as a town of high levels of education. Most of the Jews were murdered and the synagogue was burned and destroyed. Describes the "Maccabè" organization, the destruction of Jewish Yurburg, survivors of Yurburg perpetuate the memory of their community. Lithuanian Jews, New York, 2003, 737 pages, profuse. Illustrated, VG issued without dJ, $85.

7. Amsterdamse Markten Vroeger En Nu. 'Reqlément der markten 1816. En Paul Arnoldussen: 'De marketing van de markten.' Uitgeverij De Kan. Amsterdam. Nd, wraps, illus, 47p. F $25.
8. And I Still See Their Faces: Images of Polish Jews. The book is based on an exhibition. Many of the photographs in this book were donated by non-jews currently living in Poland, and jews of Polish origin from all over the world. Jewish life in Poland from the end of the last century to the Holocaust, with all its intimacies, dignity, pride and then horror, is arrayed in an exhibit of faded photographs culled from family albums, shoe boxes, and attics. At home and abroad, the photos depict assimilated, observant, modern and traditional jews, rich and poor, all creating an exuberant and forceful world now lost. Some sent in photos in the hope that a face would be recognized and that perhaps a friend had survived the roundups, the executions, the death camps. A unique photo collection of great documental, historical and artistic value. The pictures published for the first time are accompanied by fragments of authentic letters or conversations showing their origin. One photograph was carried by a daughter of her mother through two selections by Dr. Mengele at Auschwitz, once she held it in her mouth, the second time she taped it with a band-aid to the bottom of her foot, she was 14 years old at the time. She later found out that her parents, sister and brother were shot to death attempting to avoid deportation to Auschwitz. Also includes never before seen photos of the Lodz Ghetto and round ups for deportation. The book is magnificent, unique, moving, and most important. Shalom Foundation, Warsaw. 1996. folio, text in Polish and English, 1st. ed, profuse illus, with photos and text, 230p. F in F dj $190.

39. Branson, J. & Keough, J. Seeing Through Paradise Artists and the Terezin Concentration Camp. Exhibition Catalogue. This beautiful and painful exhibition is one of the best I have seen on Theresienstadt. the artists were not only silenced but then turned into victims who were forced to help their victimizers by perpetuating the "big lie" that the Nazi regime was benign and humanitarian. This was Hitlers gift to the Jews. Theresienstadt, in spite of all the facades, was a transit camp – a stopover on the way to the Gas Chambers of Treblinka, Auschwitz, etc.
