Fun with Math at Home

Long-term success in mathematics is closely tied to fluency with basic facts. You may already have things around the house you can use to create fun math fluency games. Dice, cards and old board games can be used creatively for math fact games. Math is all around us, you can weave math fun into everyday activities like going to the grocery store or using a calculator. ### One School One Book

We are in the middle of reading Charlotte's Web, our One School One Book selection. Be sure your kids are filling out their Reader Response packet. Students who complete the packet will receive a special brag tag and certificate. They will also be entered into a raffle to win a Charlotte's Web prize pack-there will be a winner in every grade level. This event will culminate on March 20 with Hoe Down, a new spin on an old classic! Thank you Title 1 for funding this schoolwide initiative. Happy Reading!
