OCTOBER 2015 Volume 7 Issue II

Dear Friends: Greetings! Welcome to the SEVENTH season of my monthly newsletter!

Finally, rain!! Are you excited about it?! I am! Let's see, when was the last time we actually had some rain in this area. I don't recall a good shower of rain all summer long, do you? Well, thanks to the Blood Moon, we're getting a change in the atmosphere to make this happen- RAIN!

Well, ladies and gentlemen, here we are, October (Autumn) and it's just about time for the leaves to change. My hope is to get a photo shoot during this process, so wish me all the best. I have always desired outdoor photo shoots. There's something beautiful about nature that tells a natural story about you and how it adds to the beauty of your pictures.

Good news and information (no bad news)! Actually, for me, bad news is handled as information. Okay, so, let's begin with the "information" first and then end on a good note!

As the summer ended, I was sad and disappointed coming into this new season of the newsletter because I had hopes of presenting a few Fall collaborative concerts in September, November and December but all of them were canceled or postponed. Depressed?, yes, but, I'm encouraged to try again.

Now, for the good news, I'm excited to share that things are not a total loss, because I have received calls to perform for individual and private events around town to make up the difference. Finally, the only major concert events taking place are; Blues Alley and Shenandoah Valley Museum, and both are Jazz Christmas/Holiday concerts with a 'live' trio band. Check below for more information and ticket sales. You don't want to miss out on this experience. Surprise me, show up. You won't be disappointed.

Thanks for taking the time to read through my monthly e-newsletter. The VIVACE Musica newsletter runs September - May (no distribution during the summer months). It is my desire to keep you informed and provide you with quick links to get there.

FAQs

Q: Are you religious? If so, how has your faith been challenged in this career?

A: Thanks for asking. I grew up in a religious background (God/Church). I believe religion is different from faith. Religion is a practice or performance-lifestyle. My faith, like religion is a practice but not a performance on my end, rather the performances of God making (spiritual) things happen because of my trust in His abilities. To answer the question: My faith is always challenged; 1. When music and the arts are no longer accepted as a true profession, 2. Believing in your gift to help make a difference in someone's life regardless to how things appear. 3. Economically speaking, when you're promised a check and you have to wait 3-4 weeks or longer. However, I will say this, although I don't perform in many churches nor do I have a church home, I'm often asked about my religion or faith and the person asking always says: "I can see and hear something different about you and your singing" Therefore, my question to you is, what do you think they're referencing to or concluding? I find this to be quite interesting, yet this is my ongoing experience. Regardless, I'm grateful to God for the gift of music used to Touch, Move, and Inspire- B. Jackson Caesar
