About the Aboriginal Mother Centre Society

The Aboriginal Mother Centre (AMC), which is dedicated to moving mothers and children off the streets provides under one roof all the support, tools and resources a mother needs to rebuild her health, self-esteem and mothering skills to regain and hold custody of her child(ren). The centre, grounded in a grass roots setting, creates a healing community to nurture children and families to become vital members of their communities.

About the Opportunity

Reporting to Program Manager, the Transformational Housing Support (THS) Worker meets regularly with women, and women and their children, to ensure the women and children living in the AMC Transformational House Program have input into their living situations; they also provide emotional support, crisis intervention and assist with safety planning; provide one-to-one and group support; support women with advocacy and assist women with cleaning, childcare, attending appointments and other daily activities. Because the program is small, THS workers are also expected to assist with cleaning, including preparing units for new families, receiving donations, and other administrative tasks.

About You

You support and want to work within the mission, vision, values and philosophy of the AMC, carrying out a variety of duties related to the operation of the housing program including providing support that meets the needs of families entering the centre as noted above as well as provision of food, clothing, and life skills. You have excellent oral and written communication skills, are willing to work shift work, are detail-oriented, and are knowledgeable of traditional protocol. Indication of your First Nations, Métis or Inuit identity, as well as training in Basic First Aid, Food Safe and or Non Violent Crisis Intervention, gives your application priority.

Application Process

- Please submit a cover letter and resume describing how you meet or exceed the above-noted qualifications, indicating if you identify as First Nations, Métis or Inuit or of First Nations, Métis or Inuit ancestry, and which shift(s) you prefer.
- Address the cover letter to Human Resources, Aboriginal Mother Centre Society, 2019 Dundas Street, Vancouver, BC V5L 1J5, or email it to hr@aboriginalmothercentre.ca
- While we thank you for your application, AMCS will only contact successful candidates who meet the requirements for an interview. For more information or other employment opportunities, please visit our website at www.aboriginalmothercentre.ca/careers2.html
