Stock may have established a short term low on Wednesday. Perhaps Obama should take note as Reagan is the only President (2 consecutive terms) over the past 100 years who has been able to orchestrate a stock market gain in their last year of reign. If I have offended you by infiltrating my analysis with politics I offer no apology. The term politically correct is an oxymoron. Actually no political offense intended.. just reporting some facts. Perhaps two terms is one too many.
