Letter of Recommendation

This page will help you decide whom to ask for a letter of reference.

Never list a person as a reference until you have personally asked them. Remember to ask for a good recommendation. You do not want a weak letter - the competition is too tough.

Choose the five (5) most important people who would write you the best possible letter. The most important group is under employers. Next, look at the group of people with titles. Continue down and decide on the best people to help you. Below write their names and telephone numbers. You will ask five (5) people and hope to get back three (3) good letters.

Employers who

- Hired or trained you for a job
- Used you to fill in on a job
- You did non-paid work experience under
- o Have seen you work hard for others
