Dear Folks,

There's not much happening hereabouts that I can tell you. I'm still well and living very comfortably.

I almost sent you a cablegram the other day. I did send one to Jan and was just about to send you one when I remembered the time I called you long distance from Oklahoma and how it scared you. Well, this is giving you fair warning; I will send you a cablegram someday soon which will probably come to you as a telegram (I'm not sure), so don't let it scare you.

I have had several opportunities to take days off and go to some town on this Island, (today is one), but so far have figured the trouble was more than it was worth. Perhaps I'll go soon and I'll find something to send Peggy. I'm going to have to go soon and buy myself some stationery to relieve these V-mail jobs.

Not so long ago we had to name my plane. I asked my crew chief for suggestions and he said, "Name it after your wife, -Batchax." How about that? I love Ball, Hi, Johnny, Bub -
