

Taz's Story

Taz was a beautiful Maltese who lived in Staten Island with his mom Denise and a few furry brothers and sisters. He was the oldest of the pack and loved going for walks, snacks and playing with his mom's grand-daughter Giana. Taz always showed love and affection to his family and was very kind and patient with the other animals in the household. He never hurt any of them but acted like a father figure to them, especially his Pomeranian sister, Bella. They were the best of friends. Taz's mom is very happy that the donation made in Taz's honor will go toward helping animals in veterinary emergencies whose owners are not able to afford their care without some help.
