

Spending time with family members can help you learn about your family history.

Next time you visit grandparents, ask them to show you some of their pictures.