Community Farmers Market Announces 2018 Season, Seeks Vendors

February 3, 2018
For Immediate Release – Chehalis, WA

The Community Farmers Market at Chehalis announces its 14th season dates and hours, and invites vendors to apply for membership. The Community Farmers Market will run two days per week in 2018. Market dates and hours are Fridays May 11 through September 21, 4-7 PM, and Tuesdays June 5 through October 30, 11 AM – 4 PM.

Market manager Vicki Muething is excited about the upcoming season, noting “This year, the market hopes to engage the community on a number of levels. We hope to feature local businesses in a more productive way, and we are expanding the Friday market to a full season. We had some great response to the pilot Friday season in 2017, but plan an earlier start this year. Our May opening gives us the chance to let Friday customers know who and where we are before summer gets busy. By starting much earlier, with plant starts and early greens, we are inviting the community to enjoy the growing process right along with our farmers. Come to the early markets, buy plant starts and get some great growing advice at the same time.”

Other market features will return as well. The Kids’ Club starts June 19 and runs through August 28, offering fun, educational programs and free tokens for kids ages 3-12. Community non-profit organizations are welcome to spend a day promoting their projects and sharing their message with customers.

Vendor applications are currently being accepted and can be found online at www.chehalisfarmersmarket.com or at the WSU Extension during their office hours. First consideration will be given to complete vendor applications received by March 1, 2018. For additional information about the market, please visit our website www.chehalisfarmersmarket.com or contact market manager Vicki Muething via email to info@chehalisfarmersmarket.com.
